

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Systems, methods, and products may employ a module for use in constructing the first and second websites, such that, using the same module, the first and second websites may incorporate common information while each incorporating information unique to each website. In this way, a brand owner might construct a single module that may be used in the websites of multiple resellers. A single change to the module might then update multiple reseller websites.

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176